History of DENCON

The Dencon Group of Companies was founded in 1939 by Samuel Sullam. No one knew back then, 80 years later, the company would still have a Sullam at the helm. Or that the same company would have expanded with multiple own brands and supply over 10,000 products nationwide.

A humble beginning selling lighting and fancy gifts helped provide the capital to develop the business in the City of London. This in turn helped pave the way for production of a wider range of electrical accessories, including British made fuses from our own factory in Sittingbourne, Kent. Using the workforce available, we were able to meet a growing demand from our customers for a wide range of products including bespoke packaging.

Since then, at Dencon, we have always tried to maintain that vision, putting our customer's needs first and embracing advances in technology. As seen today in our range of TUV GS certified range of LED lamps, now at the top of their market in energy efficiency and performance.

At our Harlow based headquarters, we have maintained our bespoke packaging service, having invested in state of the art bagging machines that offer our customers, modern day and retail ready, packaging solutions.

Our brands, within the Dencon Group of Companies, have an excellent reputation in the industry and will continue to focus on quality and fully certified products.

Today, you can still catch us at Trade Shows and Exhibitions. However our stand is now a far cry from the super retro and super posh looking wooden stand used in the 1960's. Or if you can't wait, just call us up to see what we can do for you.

So, as our journey moves on with our new catalogue, we remain independent and British owned. With our hard working team and loyal customers, we look forward to building on what is already a great British success story.

QUALITY & CHOICE

With more than 1,000 essential lines, with almost 10,000 variants, the Dencon Electrical Accessories range is one of the most comprehensive available to electrical stockists.

Conforming to BS, CE and UKCA standards, as well as meeting RoHs, Dencon products are designed and manufactured with exceptional quality.

• Traditional and Contemporary designs
• Manufactured to the highest UK standards
• Hard wearing, long lasting, superior finish

UKCA CE RoHS 2002/95/EC

WHAT IS THE UKCA MARK?

The UKCA (UK Conformity Assessment) mark is the new UK Product marking required for certain products being placed on the market in Great Britain (England, Wales and Scotland)& indicates conformity to the British Standards for the product.

Due to Brexit the CE mark is no longer accepted in the GBmarket so the UKCA mark was created to replace it.

It covers most products that previously required the CE mark & came into force January 2021.

UKCA

* All existing stocks without UKCA can continue to be sold until stocks are exhausted.

TELECOM & DATA ACCESSORIES – TECHNICAL INFORMATION

We hope this will help you when referring to the many types of adaptors and linecords in this catalogue. In the United Kingdom we use two generic types of plug and socket combinations which are as follows.

THE BRITISH SYSTEM

This is a 6 way plug and socket system that was designed in 1979 and is listed under British Standard 856312. The connectors have since been widely used both in the UK and overseas.

The basic 6 way plug is known as a 631 A while the UK socket aperture is based on a device known as the 601 A. The 601 A is from a family of sockets known as the six series (601, 608, 610, etc.) which all share the same basic aperture. We shall just refer to it as UK socket.

| | 6 position 4 contact | 2345 |

THE USA MODULAR SYSTEM

This comes in three basic styles of jack and socket style although there are some variants; longer, shorter, keyed, etc. The type known as RJ 11 is the nearest we have to a world standard and is used in over 200 countries.

*4 Position   Handset type
*6 Position   Typically known as RJ11
*8 Position   Typically known as RJ45

It should be noted for the knowledge hungry that the use of the RJ label for the above types can be misleading since the RJ designation actually refers to specific wiring arrangements under the USOC system. For instance, what we commonly refer to as an RJ11 6P4C plug could technically be called an 'RJ14((2 pair); and so on.

However, for the sake of simplicity we will keep to the labelling that is now in common use in the UK.
